

I wish to invite the reader into the world of Eva Townsend. Hers is a vision born to the mysteries of our human equation. The most distant limits of possibility seem entirely real and tangible, and so, we may wonder. Powerful and authentic, these stories span personal truth and unknown possibility...could it be—real? Such is the fundamental question we all seek to answer, should we be brave enough to ask it. What lies behind the promise of life and death? Those who are willing to ask and consider, are those worthy of these small bits of wonder. Please enjoy the work of Eva Townsend.

—Rich Norman
Editor in chief: Mind magazine