

Soul

All that our spirit may be is the persistent glow
Of a stale cigarette discarded
Near a puddle of old rain

—Richard Moss

This work is the sole property of the author, © Richard Moss